2015 Clinical Trials Day Keynote Speakers

Tom H. Greene, Ph.D.

A Professor in the Division of Epidemiology in the Department of Internal Medicine, Dr. Greene is the SDBC Director and is responsible for all aspects of the Core. Dr. Greene has served as the lead statistician at the Data Coordinating Centers for numerous multicenter clinical trials and longitudinal cohort studies, including many of the multicenter NIH sponsored clinical trials that have been performed in the field of Nephrology since 1990. Dr. Greene’s research interests include longitudinal data analysis, multivariate analysis, clinical trial design, causal modeling, and general problems in the joint analysis of longitudinal and time-to-event data including the validation of surrogate endpoints.

Scott Janis, Ph.D.

Dr. Scott Janis has been with the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS) since 2001 and is currently a Program Director in the Office for Clinical Research. His main areas of scientific interest include clinical trials stroke. He oversees two clinical trials networks at NINDS, including the NINDS Stroke Trials Network and the Neurological Emergencies Treatment Trials Network (NETT). Prior to joining NINDS, Dr. Janis received his training in Neurosciences from the School of Medicine at the Georgetown University Medical Center and the center of Molecular and Behavioral Neuroscience at Rutgers University.
