What happens when radiologists are interrupted by the phone?

How does the brain transfer complex information from one hemisphere to the other?