

GSRM Internship

A Pathway to Increase Diversity in Science Research

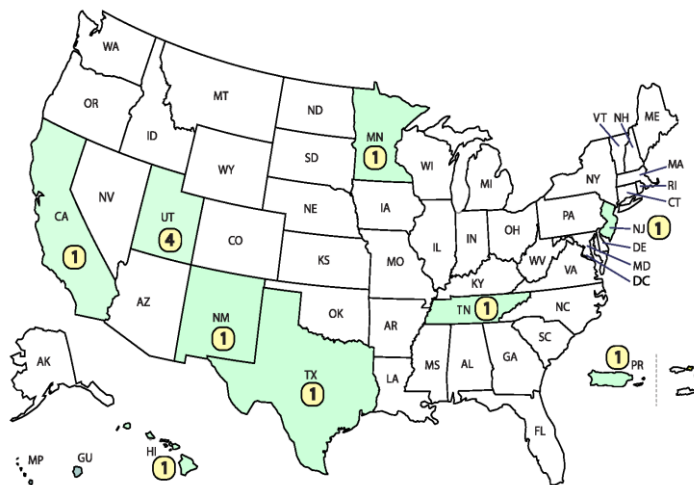

ISSUE NO 1 | 06.03.2019 | GSRM: WEEK TWO

WARM WELCOME TO THE GSRM INTERNS

Our GSRM interns traveled from across many parts of the continental US, Puerto Rico and Hawaii. We are thrilled to have you on board. You are an amazing group of people! We wish you a successful summer experience.

Interns come from a diverse geographical background

What to expect for week number two?

Lessons learned from sharing our biggest failures
in the lab.

HOW IS WEEK TWO SHAPING?

On week two, we hope you are making your nest in the hosting lab. Write down in your lab book about the overall scientific goals of the lab, what will be your summer project? Reflect about your particular contribution in the context of the overall goal. What are the right tools and techniques you need to succeed?

GSRM starts regular weekly meetings:

Thursdays: GSRM Lecture Series and Genomics Course

Open to all GSRM community.

Fridays: GSRM Mentor Lunch

For students and invited guest.
