Holiday Season and a Brand New Year!

As another semester comes to an end, we reflect on how proud we are of your accomplishments in these continually unprecedented times, and how fortunate we are to be a part of your educational journey. We hope you enjoy a well-deserved and rejuvenating break, and that your holiday season and the new year are filled with peace, happiness, and an abundance of blessings.

Karen Hageman Brown Scholarship Alert!

Karen Brown retired in 2018 after many years as an educator teaching hematology, hemostasis, phlebotomy and education courses. Professor Brown established this scholarship to recognize and support MLS students in their educational endeavors. One $1000 scholarship will be awarded for the Spring 2022 semester.

Submit a complete application by January 11, 2022. For more information, visit the MLS website.

Upcoming Events

We hope you have enjoyed our in-person activities so far.

We believe it is important to engage with our students both within and outside of the classroom. The MLS Division is preparing great activities for the upcoming year 2022.

Be on the lookout for invitations for the following events:

Winter M&E - January Date TBD
ARUP Lab Tour - February Date TBD
Laboratory Professionals Week - April 25-29
Fall 2022 Admissions

Application materials for fall 2022 admission to the MLS Programs are now available on the website.

For the Bachelor of Science in Medical Laboratory Science, completed applications must be submitted online between January 1st and March 1st. Late applications may be considered, depending on class size. Applicants must have a minimum GPA of 2.5 and a plan to complete all MLS pre-requisites prior to fall semester 2022 in order to be considered for admission.

For more information about pre-requisites and the application process, visit our website or schedule an appointment with the Pre-MLS Advisor.

If you are a transfer student, make sure you also apply for admission to the University of Utah here. For the Master of Science in Laboratory Medicine and Biomedical Science, completed applications must be submitted online between January 1st and March 15th. Late applications may be considered. For more information about requirements and the application process, visit our website or schedule an advising appointment.
