The Program of Public Affairs and the Department of Population Health Sciences are pleased to solicit applications for the combined MPP – PHD program. Public policy shapes and informs health care delivery in complex ways and the dual degree enables students to investigate this interaction by gaining expertise in each respective field. This exciting program creates an educational path that prepares students to critically analyze how policy impacts health care systems and to investigate, analyze and inform public policy in the context of health care.

Who Should Apply
Students with a background in public health, social work, economics, political science, or related fields.

More Info
Please contact: Marcie Leek, MPA Academic Program Manager 801-587-1606 marcie.leek@hsc.utah.edu

Curriculum
Students will take a total of 80 credit hours to complete the dual degree, 31 of those credits will be applied to the MPP & 49 will be taken applied to the PHD.

All requirements from both programs must be completed before either degree is awarded.

How to Apply?
- Individuals interested in the MPP– PHD Dual Degree must apply and meet the standards of each program separately to be considered for admission.
- Application Deadline: January 15
- Applications can be accessed for both programs via: https://app.applyyourself.com/?id=utahgrad
  https://medicine.utah.edu/population-health-sciences