Brody Young is a full-time Law Enforcement Ranger with the State of Utah and currently the Assistant Boating Program Manager for Utah State Parks and Recreation which manages the education and enforcement of boating in Utah. Employed since 2006, Ranger Young’s focus has been helping people and enforcing Utah’s Laws and Rules on the water and on trails throughout Utah.

Brody’s interest in Law Enforcement came from guiding passengers on river trips through the Grand Canyon, Cataract Canyon, Westwater Canyon on the Colorado River and in Desolation Canyon on the Green River.

Brody has a great story to share. He was ambushed and shot nine times while on duty as a peace officer in the back country near Moab, Utah. Left for dead, he managed to survive with all of his strength and determination. His story is full of tragedy, hope, miracles, and the will to never give up.

Donald S. Bloswick Ph.D., P.E., CPE is Professor Emeritus in Mechanical Engineering at the University of Utah. He was a Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering at the University of Utah from 1986 to 2017 where he taught and directed research in the areas of industrial ergonomics, occupational biomechanics and the design of therapeutic and recreational systems for persons with disabilities.
