SELF-ASSESSMENT

The self-assessment is a useful tool to assist current and prospective applicants as they prepare to apply to the University of Utah School of Medicine (UUSOM).

MCAT scores and grades are carefully scrutinized and are an important part of the application process. However, as important as grades and test scores are, by themselves they do not predict who will be successful in medical school. The demands of medical education and life as a physician are not for everyone. We consider how you balance outside activities and responsibilities with schoolwork to be an indicator of your ability to deal with the rigors of life as a physician. The School of Medicine Admissions Committee is interested in your motivation for attending medical school and your understanding of the medical profession as well as your diversity of experience. Commitment to community service, ethical behavior, compassion, leadership and communication skills are valued and important characteristics of physicians.

Getting into medical school is increasingly more and more competitive, so we encourage you to meet with your premedical advisor to discuss ways in which you might strengthen your application.

Instructions: Section one asks you to list your involvement in the required activities. Section two allows you to review the activities you listed in section one and determine if you meet the minimum and average requirements. Complete this form as thoroughly and accurately as you can. Please visit our website for detailed information at http://medicine.utah.edu/admissions.

Your assessment is not used or accessible by the School of Medicine as part of the application process and thus will not guarantee an interview or an offer of acceptance.

You may also use this document to assess your qualifications as you discuss them with your premedical advisor.

Note: When you submit your secondary forms to the School of Medicine, you may only list activities and hours completed at the time of submission.

If you have any questions, please send an email to deans.admissions@hsc.utah.edu.

Thank you for your interest in the University of Utah School of Medicine.

Section 1 – Experiences Worksheet

The Admissions Committee evaluates applicants based on their involvement in the following activities. It’s important that you focus on the value of your experiences rather than taking a checklist approach. Please complete each section as completely as possible.

Many preparatory experiences could reasonably be considered under more than one heading and you should list them in each applicable area so that you do not fall short of meeting the criteria in any areas. You should always strive to be average or above average in each area. Successful applicants list different activities for each individual category. The admissions committee suggests that you make your decisions about where to list your activities based on the impact that they have had on you and on your personal development. Overlapping or “double dipping” experiences may be viewed negatively if done in excess.

Only hours and activities completed at the time an applicant submits their application should be listed.

Community/Volunteer Service

Community/Volunteer service is defined as involvement in a service activity without constraint or guarantee of reward or compensation. Work performed in service learning courses and community service performed as part of employment does not satisfy this requirement.
